PROFILE

My interest in development began when I first started working at General Assembly in 2014. I tried a few online coding tutorials before enrolling in GA's part-time front-end course to dive a little deeper.

Web development became the perfect blend of technology, story telling, and experience curation; and I was in love. I took the plunge and enrolled in GA's immersive course, and I've loved the challenge of creating things from scratch and tackling problems from different angles.

I'm looking to work with an innovative company driven by social good, where I can grow and learn something new every day, while working to make the world a better place.

When I'm not coding, you can find me with my nose buried in a book, rock climbing, hiking, or searching for the perfect puppy gif.
